MEMORANDUM

On the 21st February ,in the year 1952 on a moment, to establish bangla as the national language of the un divided Pakistan, Salam , Barkat, Rafique , Jabbar and many other undefined student of university of Dhaka got killed by the east Pakistan police force. Even since, Bangladeshis living all over the world have been observing 21st February as mother language day .already UNESCO has declared 21st February as International mother language day to show respect to all those martyred. And since then the day is observing as international mother language day. There are almost 50crore people all over the world who speak in Bengali. Bangladesh Human Rights Commission (BHRC) is thanking UNESCO once again for declaring 21st February as an International Mother Language Day. Therefore BHRC strongly believes UNESCO would honour the bloodshed of Bangladeshi's by listing Bangla as one one of the official language of the UN. Which will allow Bangladeshi's to speak in Bengali, in the UN and other international conferences. BHRC has go on an symbolic hunger strike today on 25th July 2012 view to establish Bangla as an official language of the UN, in front of UNESCO head quarter in Paris. BHRC firmly believes that UNESCO will show his big heartiness again by declaring Bangla as one of the official language of UN and put an end of this peaceful movement.
